Pumpkin exhibition

for international doctoral candidates, post-docs, experienced researchers and their families

Dear international researchers,

Would you like to see autumn's most beautiful sides? Are you interested in unconventional art and connecting with other international researchers? Then join us on our excursion to the pumpkin exhibition where you will immerse yourself in a world of vibrant colors, incredible art and everything pumpkin flavored.

To celebrate the harvest season the City of Ludwigsburg hosts the world's largest pumpkin exhibition which will transform the Blühende Barock Ludwigsburg into a stage for unrivalled pumpkin art. There will be traditional pumpkin culinary delights, such as pumpkin soup and Maultaschen and a shop where you can buy pumpkins as well.

Join us on Sunday, October 27th, from 11.00 am – 1.00 pm at the main entrance.

After we meet in front of the entrance, we walk down to the special exhibition that marks the 25th anniversary and explains more about the origin and variety of the pumpkins on display. After 1.00pm you are free to stay in the park and connect with other international researchers or visit the rest of the castle's garden as long as you wish. The large fairytale park is included in the price and can be visited as well as the botanical gardens. All within sight of the beautiful Ludwigsburg Palace. All footpaths are accessible with a pushchair.

Please register via ILIAS until October 1st at the latest providing your contact info, your status and the institute you work at. Let us know if you would like to bring your family along.

We will cover a part of the ticket price depending on number of participants. Please note that we can only cover the price if you are registered via ILIAS and unfortunately cannot pay for the family members accompanying you.
