

University of Stuttgart popular with prospective students

Over 37,000 applications for the winter semester 2017/2018

The University of Stuttgart is very popular with prospective students this year as well. This is reflected in the large number of applications.

37,336 applications for the winter semester 2017/2018 were received by 15.8.2017. The number of applications stands at around 24,382, 8,728 of these come from abroad.

The most sought-after degree courses are:

- Business Administration (Master of Science): 1,640 applications
- Mechanical Engineering (Bachelor of Science): 1,520 applications
- Technical Business Administration (Bachelor of Science): 1,159 applications
- Aerospace Technology (Bachelor of Science): 1,102 applications
- Information Technology (Master of Science): 1,083 applications

The application deadline for subjects with restricted admission for the winter semester 2017/2018 has passed. For degree courses without restricted admission, however, prospective students can still apply by 15th September 2017 via the Campus-Management-System C@MPUS (<https://www.uni-stuttgart.de/studium/bewerbung/online/>).
